SENIOR ANNUAL NUMBER

Published By The Senior Class of June 1925

FOREWORD

In presenting the Commencement Number of "The Magician" to the students, alumni, faculty and loyal friends and supporters of the Brown and White, it has been our aim to outline some of the activities and incidents which were so closely related with our school life—the four short but happy years in this great institution of learning. Our purpose is to recall to them in after years, some of the joys, sorrows, friendships and other incidents which were so closely connected with our short stay in the Barberton High School, and arouse in them the spirit and fervor for the Brown and White.

DEDICATION

To Mrs. Bertha Laudenslager, our loved friend and teacher; whose kindly advice and counsel during our four years will lead us in the pathways of life, and for whose service and interest in us we owe a debt of gratitude, we, the June Class of '25, lovingly dedicate this, the Commencement Number of the Magician.

FAREWELL

June, 1925, is here and our school days have ended. Four golden years were spent in this High School. Although the years may seem short to us now as we look back, yet we know no matter how long or short they were, they were years of joy and happiness.

The teachers of this school have endured many hard knocks from the members of our class, but these have been forgotten and only the clear knowledge which they tried to impart to us remains, and will forever remain as an undying ember.

We have contributed in an honest effort to make the organizations of the school a success.

Now we leave to the Senior B's our spirit of loyalty and our policy of friendliness.

So Farewell! May the years bring joys and happiness to our dear Old High School—the Brown and White.

BOOST OUR ADVERTISERS

The success of the Annual depended to a great extent upon the loyal support of the business men of our city. They have been very hearty and generous in extending their advertising in this Annual, and it is through such loyal support that its publication was possible. This is also what has helped to make our Magician, the school paper, one worth our support.

Why not let us help them now by patronizing them. It is only just that we do so, and help to make their business the success that we want this Annual to be. Buy from them. Show them that you are generous and a good sport. BOOST OUR ADVERTISERS! ! !

WE THANK YOU

We, the June Class of '25, wish to thank all the representative students from various clubs and classes who have lent a helping hand in making this Annual a success, for without their help we could not have had such an accurate description of their activities.

We also wish to thank the faculty for their loyalty and support toward making this Annual a success.

Last, but not least, we wish to thank the student body for their co-operation and patronage, by buying a copy of this Annual, and we hope that they will always keep and preserve it as a remembrance of the Class of June '25.

CLASS MOTTO

"Follow the Gleam"

We are responsible to Mr. Woddel for this motto. Although there seems little to it at first glance, if you will look at it again and study it you can get worlds of meaning from it. It means that we should not be mimics or copies--doing as others have done before, but rather to develop our own ambitions and follow our own inspirations --"Follow Our Gleam".

This motto is taken from Tennyson's poems--"Merlin and the Gleam". Perhaps our meaning can be made clearer by a quoting of the last verse of these poems.

Launch your vessel
And crowd your canvas,
And ere it vanishes, over the margin
After it, follow it, Follow the Gleam!

CLASS COLORS

The colors of the Class of June, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, are Blue and Gray. These are the colors of the famous June '25 class and may they always wave on high as they have continually done since they have been chosen to be defended by the members of the Class of June, nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

CLASS FLOWER

The flower chosen by the Class of June, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, to be their representative flower, is the Tea Rose.

CLASS YELL

What's the matter with us?
There's no cause to cuss,
The Blue and Gray are here to stay
'25! That's Us! !

CLASS TOAST

Fine as "Gray" may we forever
Keep our hearts along life's way,
While Truth's golden sunbeams sever
All the black clouds from our day.
May the "Blue", so clear and stainless,
Keep us ever right and true.
May our lives be long and painless,
Guarded by the "Gray and Blue"!

HISTORY OF THE CLASS JUNE '25

It was:

Many years after the Class of 1925 had passed out of the portals of old Barberton High School. The old building had fallen into a mass of ruins and in its place was erected a new one. Now these ruins were very interesting and often visited by the curious.

One day an archeologist, while digging among the ruins struck upon a huge concrete body.

He began to unearth it and when he attempted to pry it out of the ground one end broke off and revealed to his astonished gaze, two human feet. He raised this object out of the ground in spite of his great terror.

Just as it came to the surface it broke into several pieces and there, enclosed in this concrete mass, he beheld a mummy wrapped in an immense brown and white banner, with "Barberton High" written across it and tied with blue and gray ribbon.

The mummy arose, gasping for its newly found breath. The archeologist became too terrified to stand up and dropped upon a stone nearby.

"Don't be frightened," said the mummy in wierd tones, and thus frightened the student more than ever, so he attempted to rise and to escape, but his adversary only lifted a long, bony finger and said, "Now you shall stay and help me out of this. In the first place I shall tell you who I am.

"I am a proud member of the Class of June '25. I see you have never heard much of our class, so I shall tell you all about it:

To begin with, on September sixth, nineteen hundred and twenty one, about two hundred and fifteen very green freshies entered Barberton High School. Little did they know the important part they were destined to play in the great life drama of this School.

Mr. Copper, who was then the principal, told us we had better have a meeting and organize, so we could have money for parties. Well we organized and elected Frank Butler as President, Dorothy Johnston as Treasurer, Leo Amstutz as Secretary, and Miss Haylor our faculty advisor, but I can't say so much for the parties. Our treasurer had a terrible time wringing money from us. I remember since she pleaded so hard she broke a blood vessel in her throat and the class had to pay the doctor bill.

Of course in our second year we were somewhat wiser but still too new to try to show any authority, but we chose new officers, namely, William Powell, President, Sue Cobb as Secretary and Treasurer, with Miss Emerson, who is now Mrs. Laudenslager, as our honorary member. We had one or two parties in our Sophomore year, but one we especially remember because it was our last party attended by our dear principal, R. E. Copper, who passed away from us in our next year. Everyone had a "swell" time at this party I'm sure. Only one sadness blotted our second year, this was the horrible accident in which our young and handsome teacher, Ellis Portz, was killed.

Next with all our pomp and glory in 1923 we came back to B. H. S. Juniors! Up-perclassmen! Just now we realized what had been meant when we thought ourselves so "welcome" in our first year.

Our officers for this year were: Roy Brown, who had just joined our ranks, elected President, Ruth Tawney Secretary and Treasurer and old Ironsides "Peg" as our honorary member.

We had one party in the form of a Hallowe'en party and everyone had an awfully good time, I'm sure. Now that we were Juniors, the time was here to choose our class rings, so Mr. Everett (who had succeeded Mr. Copper as Principal) called a class meeting and we were given the honor of being the first class to wear the Magic City standard seal. Our rings came about the middle of the term.

It was during this year that two of the best and dearest to us passed beyond, these were R. E. Copper and A. A. McNeil. Although we had a very happy year these two deaths were a large black blot on our happiness.

Then at last came our Senior Year. How swiftly had our last three years swept past. So we now Seniors made up our minds at our first class meeting of the year, at which were re-elected Roy Brown as our President and Verna Buckohr Secretary and Treasurer and Mr. Woddell as our faculty advisor, that we would do all we could to make the best of this last year.

This was easy to do because the school building had just been remodeled and now there was plenty of room for everyone and no more cramped quarters. We had had our meeting to choose our colors, which were gray and peacock blue, and had ordered our sweaters so early in our Senior year. They arrived with a beautiful monogram on the breast of peacock blue (patterned by none other than our friend and classmate, Vernet Slaybaugh) and three blue stripes on the arm to signify our first three years in B. H. S. These sweaters were the envy of everyone in the high school, though few would admit it.

We had two parties in our Senior year, one being held before Xmas in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. This was a great party and the first one held under the auspices of the school at which we were allowed to dance. Messrs. Turney, Measell and Woddell chaperoned and this alone was inducement for a good time, which of course everyone had.

Then came the notable Senior Banquet, and again our class was honored by being the first to hold a banquet in the new and spotless cafeteria. The committees worked very hard for this banquet and the pleased looks that appeared on the guests' faces as they entered the dining room was enough to show that our efforts were not in vain. Our predominating colors were Canary Yellow and Heliotrope—but every time we turned around we ran into some butterfly, bird or flower of a bright spring shade. These combined with the beautiful gowns worn by the girls and the good eats certainly insured its place among the best banquets ever given, and to top all this off we had a regular "prom" in the music room after the "feed". Everything was over about eleven o'clock and everyone went home tired but happy.

Our last party we held as Seniors was a "Kid Party" in the music room. All the boys came in knee pants and bow ties, while the girls wore hair ribbons and carried dolls. We all had a fine time but we haven't quite forgiven Mr. Everett yet for eating seven cakes and then taking four more home to "Baby Homer".

Shortly after our party a committee was appointed to choose a class play. In due time it was chosen—"A Full House" by name, and how the cast worked to make it a success!

Commencement Exercises were planned and soon took place.

Alas those happy school days were over all too soon.

The memory of B. H. S. has always remained dear to us and no doubt the Class of June '25 had always been remembered as the most illustrious class that ever left the portals of our old shrine.

The last words of the mummy had become so faint that they were scarcely audible, so with a final sigh of regret that these happy carefree schooldays of the Class of June '25 had passed, he sank into a crumpled heap.

The deeply impressed archeologist turned away from the ruins a sadder and much wiser man, exclaiming, "Would that it were my happy lot to enjoy such gloriously happy days as those."

CLASS WILL

We, the June Graduates of 1925, do hereby declare this document as our last will and testament:

- To Mr. Light, "Dutch" Amstutz bequeaths his pugilistic ability, as he might need it in the future as a means of self-defense.
- To Mr. Woddell, "Joe" Breaun wills all the knocks and rattles of his Ford, as Mr. Woddell will soon learn that a Buick's life is not always a silent one.
- To Dorothy Worley, Wade Brotsman leaves his ability to know when to keep his mouth shut. Wade believes in the old saying, "Fools should be seen and not heard".
- To Hancil Poulton, Junior Brubaker bequeaths his artist's ways, to be used in cartooning pictures of the faculty when they are giving you a lecture on "How to be Mannerly".
- To Fred Johnson, John Beck wills his daring ways of getting a date with the girls.
- To Pauline Werner, Verna Buckohr leaves a smile to brighten up Pauline's face on a cloudy day.
- To Mary McGillivray, Roy Brown bequeaths his knowledge of a vocabulary, so Mary will know just what words to use at the right time, and also how to word her own excuses.
- To Mary Cantleberry, Esther Butzer leaves her natural rosy cheeks. This will save Mary the trouble of buying rouge.
- To Margaret Murphy, Esther Campbell wills her tongue, to be used in gossiping only.
- To "Fat" Gates, James Campbell leaves his bath tub. It is said to be very clean, due to the fact that James has never used it. Judge for yourself.
- To Freddy Parks, Clifford Carbaugh leaves his canary voice, to warble for the people in the springtime so they think the birds have come back.
- To Harvey Adams, Russel Christenson bequeaths his ease on the stage, which was displayed during the delivery of his chapel speech. Harvey is so bashful in public.
- To Miss Helfer, Mary Cimperman wills an empty chair which she has occupied in the Cafeteria. We are hoping you will get as accurate a change-maker as she was.
- To Gladys Shook, Edna Cox bequeaths her ability to get into the membership of the famous organization "The I. W. W." (meaning—I Won't Walk.)
- To "Peg" Cline, Eva Cromley leaves her ability to keep a man without running after him.
- To John Dapp, Francis Delagrangé wills his ability to solve algebra, so Johnny will not have to make so many "copies".
- To Claudine Shannon, Leora Donaldson leaves her famous strut, to be used in promenading up to the pencil sharpener in the study hall.
- To Roy Lindeman, Roy Ruff leaves all his love notes.
- To Mrs. Rogers, Ada Dutt bequeaths a pair of roller skates, to be used by the assistant office girl so she does not wear out so many shoes in carrying around the pink slips, also for speed.
- To Dorothy Keenan, Mary Endinger wills her giddiness with the boys, also the new fashion of wearing her new gold watch.
- To Dorothy Henry, Helen Elmer leaves a goodly portion of her ability to make goo-goo eyes at the boys in the study hall, also as an entertainment when she sits on the stage when she gives her chapel speech.
- To Miss Jones, "Dot" Edwards bequeaths her Parisian costumes and fashions. This will save Miss Jones from buying any fashion magazines.
- To Harriet Stough, Myrtle Egbert wills her "Red Top" to be worn while playing the leading part in "Flaming Youth".

SENIOR ANNUAL NUMBER

- To Lauren Smoyer, Himon Farber leaves his shyness among the ladies.
- To B. H. S. Library, LaVern Fletcher bequeaths all his red hot magazines to be used as reference books, due to the fact that Mr. Laudenslager has read each one thoroughly and has approved of them:
- To Helen Debold, Leora Frazee leaves her bobbed hair, as in the future she will be the wife of a Reverend.
- To Estelle Boucher, Janet Ferrell wills her dramatic ability, which will be on display in the Senior play.
- To Mr. Everett, Mary Hahn leaves all her giggles, to be evenly distributed throughout the high school.
- To Coach Turney, "Red" Glancy bequeaths his daring fashion of flirting with "Peg" Cline during classes. This will be a good present to the Coach as he has been so bashful and has kept "Peg" in suspense.
- To Bill Evans, Warren Gottwalt leaves the task of cleaning off the gum from under the desks.
- To Ruth Jacobs, Thelma Hines wills her ability to play the piano without making mistakes. This so we won't have to sing "The Lost Chord" in chapel.
- To Talitha Shawn, John Hill leaves the task of keeping his name alive around the school after he is gone.
- To Miss Bauman, "Mid" Houck wills her ability to drive around a corner without running over the red lights.
- To Margaret Atkinson, Guila Hoyt bequeaths her secret way of conversing which Mr. Reed hasn't discovered yet.
- To Virginia Bell, Gladys Jackson leaves her wooden heel, so when she walks everyone will look at her without the need of calling.
- To Mrs. Laudenslager, Mary Louise Joy wills her "Baby Stare", which she learned at the Miles Royal on the day she was absent from school and Miss Bauman didn't know it.
- To "Bill" McQuigg, Delmar Ling bequeaths his chesty shirts, so Bill will not hurt his chest so much when he hits it in the study hall to entertain the girls.
- To Eleanor Long, Anna Levine wills her "Line". If used correctly you will get good grades, as many a teacher has fallen for it.
- To Miss Shaw, "Lizzie" Marvin leaves her ability to keep her eyes open so no one will steal her fella'.
- To Faculty, Lucy Muzik bequeaths her wistful glances, which when interpreted mean, "That's perfectly all right."
- To Paul Lecky, George Onderack leaves his ability to read something from nothing.
- To "Ves" Thesing, Glenn Peters leaves his hero action when protecting her from the lion.
- To the B. & O. Railroad, Jack Plaine bequeaths all his loud ties, as they speak for themselves.
- To Mr. Hartsook, "Bill" Powell leaves the remains of what was once a Ford.
- To Helen Lawrence, Ethel Riley wills her pink tardy cards which were graciously issued by the Dean.
- To Mr. Bryant, Gordon Rennie bequeaths his muscle builder, which may prove to be of value to him.
- To Genevieve Cook, Rebecca Sabetay wills her permanent wave. It is guaranteed against rain and water.
- To Vivian Stocker, Helen Summers leaves her slimness.
- To Harriet Courson, Marjorie Sample wills the task of learning how to fill out her bathing suit.

- To Miss Kline, Loretta Sauers bequeaths her peach and cream complexion, including the beauty spots (freckles)
- To Ilma Krupp, "Dot" Wallet and Vera Simmons leave all the surplus weight which they do not want.
- To Paul Maas, Vernet Slaybaugh wills his reserve seat in Room 26, even the cushion for it that Vernet made.
- To "Ed" Razor, Vernon Stanley leaves his ability to ride a motorcycle, plus the dare-devil stunts.
- To Miss Alexander, Kenneth Seigle bequeaths his shorthand ponies. They are all tamed—Will Miss Alexander ride them?
- To "Peg" Sherman, Frances Tonya bequeaths her shyness with the boys, but probably "Peg" won't want this for it is rumored she is shy enough.
- To "Art" Quinn, Stanley Waltz leaves his gracefulness on the dance floor, including the new tango which Stanley tries once in a while.
- To Ruth Smith, Wanda Stine bequeaths her athletic ability as a means of reducing. Wanda stands for the results.
- To "Dot" Bantz, Ruth Tawney wills her flapper ways, plus her mournful disposition when she lost her man (chapel play).
- To "Duke" Measell, Norris Titley leaves his ability to ride a bicycle without falling off for at least two blocks. By the looks of things "Duke" needs practicing in this line of riding.
- To Rita Webb, Helen Wagner bequeaths her castles in the air without Lloyd. That is, if Helen hasn't blown them too high to reach.
- To "Billy" Donaldson, "Pete" Wagner leaves her love for skyscrapers (tall men). But don't get a stiff neck looking at them.
- To Blanche Brubaker, Agnes Werner leaves her ability to make the teachers look dumb.
- To Charles Hunter, Harold Waters bequeaths his physical culture stature that has made him famous in a bathing suit.
- To Mrs. Baker, "Cliff" Welch wills a cross word for her to throw at the Mr. when he needs it. We are doing this because we don't think Mrs. Baker has a cross word in her, but who can tell?
- To Mr. Baker, Lloyd Whims graciously wills all the knowledge he took from Commercial Law class.
- To Ladye Cobb, Anna Wowra bequeaths her affection for Miss Bauman which she has acquired during the last semester.
- To Dale Wagner, "Art" Wright wills his ability to tame wild women. He's a lion among the ladies.
- To Harold Eckroate, "Babe" Watson leaves his knowledge in bluffing, which has helped to keep him in school for ten semesters.
- To Mr. Reed, the Senior A Class leave their sunny dispositions. We also wish to express our hearty thanks for guiding us through this tortuous trial of making up time.

We, the Class of June '25, in order to prohibit any murders, riots or deaths during the execution of this famous world-wide will, do ordain and appoint the Senior B Class to execute it. With their weakness, their dumbness, also their silliness, we think they will ably do such a noble deed. In order that they should not shirk their duty we are leaving them a "Little Wootsie" for a mascot. We forgot that the Senior B's are not as highly educated as the class that we come from. So a "Wootsie" is a little pig!

THE MIDNIGHT OIL

Burned by ANNA LEVIN

Dear Sally:

I'm sitting up here on the roof writing this letter while I cool off and give the others a chance to do the same. You see, it was this way, Sally. I got a card from somebody by the name of Ann Onimus, saying "You're a nut". It sounded so much like my classmates that I decided to see what was wrong in Denmark. I didn't remember anyone by that name but names change, you know, so I packed up my tooth-brush and set out.

Naturally I bumped into Anna Wowra and Edna Cox all decked up in pink (they were, not I. I detest pink). Dear Miss Bauman! If she had only known what a lasting impression she made by giving them one or two pink cards a day for tardiness! They have even furnished their apartment with those cards. It's so individualistic—has their names on each one, you know.

Talking about art, I saw some works by June '25 members at the Rogue's Gallery. Gladys Jackson's charcoal study of a "Boy Pickling Sauerkraut" is so winsome! In fact, I actually had spasms over it. And Mildred Houck's landscape painting "Bolivar Road in Spring" is so exquisite. Really, I never knew there were so many ash cans there before. Harold Waters has become quite famous as a magazine illustrator. They say he's so good that one can almost tell what he has drawn. Vernet Slaybaugh is so good as a magazine cover artist that every time he draws a picture of a girl a thousand or so of bachelors want to know who she is. Then there are some of the younger ones who worship in silence.

Oh yes, Junior Brubaker is a cartoonist of fame. His character, Cracker McNutt, (a sixty-second cousin of Boob McNutt on his father's uncle's side) according to Junior, was inspired by seeing his classmates so often in natural pose.

Art and music are well represented in our former class. Babe Watson's silvery voice, as he announces the radio programs make 2,615,112 small feminine hearts flop—but not worse than for Francis DeKagrange, who poses for Arrow collars (when he's not washing the dinner dishes). Well do I remember how we girls used to propose to him about thirteen times a day. Unlucky thirteen! He refused us all!

But about music. "Red" Glancy sings the aria "Oh Chop Me a Piece" in the opera "A Hunk of Boloney". He sings it so realistically, too!

Gordon Rennie sings in the opera, also. After hearing the cows, pigs, and cats on the farm he developed such a musical voice that critics say that he will be a second Jack Dempsey in singing circles.

Ah, poetry. "Dot" Wallet writes it. She writes the kind they call "Spaghetti Poetry" (maybe it's macaroni or noodles, I've forgotten which). So starchy!

When Roy Brown goes on his speaking tours on "The Illiteracy of Webster" he sell his own dictionaries made in the order of his speech so his readers can look up the words and understand a little bit of his speech.

Mary Louise Joy speaks too. Talking before a packed audience (a can of sardines to be exact) she advocated in no uncertain terms the abolishment of garlic eating. I thought her ungrateful for John Beck, the garlic king, donated a whole carload for our last reunion and Mary Louise ate heartily, too.

At last Guila Hoyt and Francis Tonya have fulfilled their lifelong ambitions. They are now known as the "Checkerboard Twins" on the stage. That's probably because it makes you dizzy to look at them both at the same time unless you are cross-eyed.

Helen Elmer too, is the partner of Maurice the dancer, who is very much in love with her. But he is bald and every time she looks at him she thinks of a blonde head poring over a Sociology book in B. H. S. and says "NO".

Agnes Werner is such a fine tragedienne that every time she laughs everybody cries, and every time she cries everybody laughs. It must take a truly great artist to make people do the right thing at the wrong time.

"Dot" Edwards wanted to take up Dramatic reading, also, with one eye on an A. M. degree, but soon Harry convinced her that he'd do the dramatic reading in their home. "Dot" says an MA degree is just as good as an A. M. degree any old day. Leora Frazee, who will always stay "Young" seconds her declaration. Leora makes such a nice wife for a minister! Eva Cromley is the other member of the quartette of "We Wives". Oh, that short pants wonder! He captured her. Naturally Lloyd and Fair Helen said "I do". But what a change! Meek little Helen now says, "Treat 'em rough", while Lloyd says "y-y-yes, dear. What shall I do next."

You know, Sally, a funny thing happened in my quest for the person who committed that heinous crime of calling me a "nut". I saw Dutch Amstutz plus a peach of a black eye. "Great Caesar, Dutch" I gasped, "Is Harriet as strong as that?" Leo blushed and explained that he had boxed with LaVern Fletcher and as loving remembrances (being classmates in B. H. S.) they had given each other a black eye. LaVern—the boy who made the ladies' hearts thump in days gone by. I left in a hurry as I was afraid Dutch might give me a souvenir, too.

Do you remember Art Wright? He's a steeplejack now. He's so tall that his head reaches the top of the building and so stubborn that he uses his head as a hammer. Even now Elizabeth Marvin uses that signal "pst, pst!" She wears false teeth now, poor dear, because of that wear on her teeth, especially when used during classes. They say her neck is stiff, but Coach Ted warned her it would be.

I was so sorry to hear the news of Marjorie Wagner. It seems that in going with Jack so much Marjorie became quite English. As a result she happened to catch a joke printed in the Joke Edition of the Magician in our Senior. She laughed so hard that she sprained her jaw. Jack? Oh, he's a dentist at the zoo. After pulling a fat man's tooth he felt that pulling one of a rhinoceros would be lots easier and much more pleasant.

They say Bill Powell, assistant Bug-catcher to Mr. Neihaus, isn't the same since a bug bit him last year. Authorities were unable to identify the bug as it carried no license plate.

You ought to see what Himon Farbor did, though. The renowned scientist discovered why cats have nine lives. It is hoped this discovery will be of great financial value to cat fur dealers, as cat fur is becoming increasingly popular for use in wigs. Russell Christenson, in the same field, made a fortune selling catnip to lion hunters to feed their prey. Just recently, however, it was discovered that catnip whetted their appetites and made them vicious. Russell is thinking up a hole-proof invention now.

Talking about holes, Helen Summers is head of the Senate Investigating Committee to find why the doughnut has a hole in the middle. It is expected to unearth a great national scandal.

Never say girls can't be business successes. Look at Mary Hahn for instance, since as Advertising Manager for the Chokem Castor Oil Co., she introduced the slogan "Had your oil today?" their sales have increased many times.

Then there's Verna Buckohr, formerly our class treasurer. She gets her immense salary in quarters so she can count them and give the company a lecture if there's a mistake.

Janet Ferrell is President and Manager of the "Wives of Red-heads Society" for encouraging talking. Think of all the men with red—I mean auburn—hair and you will realize what a responsible position Janet has—yet how well qualified!

You know, Sally, I was simply tickled to pieces to hear about Vernon Stanley and Ada Dutt. Vernon has a powder for killing mosquitoes. All the user has to do is to catch the mosquito, rub the powder on and then mash it. Ada, not to be outdone, invented a spanking machine. Alas! It works.

Do you remember how bashful George Onderak used to be? Just recently while staying in India, the Maharajah of Castoria (children don't cry for him) was so pleased that he offered him a large harem as a gift. What did George do? He blushed scarlet, and ran, never stopping until he got over the boundary line. George is back in the U. S.

Another dreamer is Lucy Muzik who used to go out in the open to day-dream. Since a very inconsiderate bull kicked her off the fence just as she was adding a ball room to her air castle, she stays at home to blow her bubbles. They may break sooner but her bones will last longer, she thinks.

Now I know why Loretta Sauers threatened to put an end to my life if I dared to prophesy that she would be an old maid. It seems that "he" was hovering between cold feet and a hot heart and Loretta didn't want the cold feet to win. They have a "Full House" now.

You never can tell about those quiet little girls. Ethel Riley was one of them. Oh, Boy! She can roll those eyes. She has their rolling insured for $100,000. Thelma Hines is another who used to be so quiet. Myrtle Egbert, another quiet one, has also made her peace with the world. I've been trying to find his name, but so far I have been unsuccessful.

Do you remember how hard Ruth Tawney always tried to catch a man? Well, she's finally decided that they weren't worth the effort and has now become director of the skinoptocated orchestra. (I don't know how to spell it). They play jazz especially for funerals.

Joe Brean just couldn't make a success of his auto business until he bought up some land, made a private graveyard of it, and offered a cemetery lot to anyone killed in one of his machines. Both graveyard and business are flourishing.

Esther Butzer and Wanda Stone (our former Siamese twins) are both sport champions. Esther can jump off the Woolworth Building better than anyone else, while Wanda can beat any one-legged woman in a race. Clifford Welch, who is at present studying Mars, says he saw some shadows there which he believes were their champions running away in fear at the prospect of competition with the two champs of our class.

Have you heard the scandal about Stanley Waltz? He's in jail. No, he isn't the petticoat thief. He's the warden. Mary Endinger has become a full fledged village vamp since graduating from B. H. S.

And Roy Ruff has become—wonder of all wonders—head of the Humane Society for the prevention of cruelty to bed bugs.

Marjorie Samples has just completed her book entitled "Motorcycle Cops as I have Known Them". As Marjorie was recently accused of being a speed demon and the most arrested driver, the book ought to prove interesting.

Vera Simmons is Publicity Manager of the Leap Year Workers Club. Papers quoted her recently as saying, "We are preparing thoroughly. Few men will escape our Leap Year clutches. We are desperate. Our last cat died yesterday".

Kenneth Seigle has a very large junk shop. He buys up old school desks upon which pupils have carved pulchritudinous designs. I was most amazed however, to hear that Glenn Peters has become Tammany Boss. Hitherto this honor has gone only to Irishmen. But Glenn graduated in June '25, so it's almost natural.

Clifford Carbaugh is at present hard at work on a stainless lip-stick. Necessity is the mother of invention, for Elva's lipstick fades on his face, making a rather embarrassing cupid's bow! Will someone please help him?

Leora Donaldson recently gave a sensational dinner at which a monkey was honor guest. Leora denies that he is any relation of hers as some people have declared. As Leora set the styles, you can expect our ancestors, (yours, not mine) to be quite popular.

Mary Cimperman, always there to take care of the money, has become chief cashier in the Coney Island. John Hill is seriously considering entering the brick laying profession, as brick will come in handy a-a-er-Talitha is Irish, you know.

You know, Sally, I couldn't find Delmar Ling anywhere, but I remember that at Commencement I heard some of the girls say, "Well, anyway, we'll never forget Delmar's big feet." So I suppose he's in vaudeville or maybe he's a preacher. He used to mention religious subjects so much. I wonder. Ah, yes there is Jim Campbell, I wonder what he's doing? The last time I heard of him he had eloped with a good looking show girl and later he found out that she was old enough to be his grandmother. Yes, he got rid of her—What he's doing now, I wish I knew.

By the way, teaching holds no terrors for Warren Gottwalt. He's head professor of the chewing gum course in the Hickville College.

And Sally, here's why I'm on the roof. I had walked for hours and, being tired, I asked a cop for a good place to spend the night. He directed me to a restful looking place. I entered. "Take her to Room 25," said the begoggled looking matron at the desk to the black-haired maid. Both looked familiar but I was too tired to investigate. As I followed her I saw another maid carrying a bowl of soup to a room marked "Norris Titley". "Soup to Nuts", murmured the maid. I was somewhat puzzled but much more amazed when on leaving me she locked the door. I looked around suddenly and saw that the room was padded on all sides. And then in one agonizing moment I knew. (Doesn't that sound grand? Just like a love story!)

Running to the window I looked out. It was as I thought, "Ye Olde Nutte Shoppe" read the sign (Please forget it was dark). Now I knew who the matron was. Rebecca Sabetay! And the maid was Esther Campbell. I had heard rumors too, that Norris was so sure that he had studied too much while in B. H. S. that he was now resting up for the last ten years. My blood curdled. Becky had threatened to do something terrible to me the day the Magician Annual came out. What if she had remembered after all those years. A terrible thought came to me. Suppose she should make me eat spinach.

Made brave by this last great fear, I broke the bars with my teeth, then I jumped over the window and ran. The great noise I made in falling brought them out, but I outran all of them. And here I am on the roof, waiting for them to go away.

Whazzat? Sounds like Napoleon? Where? Seems like a cloud. What? "Millions now living will never die". "Join us now and you will be saved". Fudge! It's neither Caesar nor Napoleon. It's Wade Brotaman and I won't go. Ouch! Murder! Suffering Cats! The cloud's falling.

Oh! From the feeling in my ribs, I think the million and the cloud fell on me.

Your little,

FARINA

P. S. Listen, Sally. It was only a dream. I oughta know 'cause I just fell off the bed.

FARINA

Another P. S. You know, sis, I just figured it out. Ann Onimus must be a bluffer's way of spelling anonymous. Ain't I smart?—F.

SENIORS

"GOOD LUCK TO THEE"

There's memory clinging to our hearts,
Of the days we spent at B. H. S.,
Of the fun and work we've had, in parts,
Though our fun with you outshines the rest.

CHORUS

Good luck to thee. Good luck to thee.
O' Alma Mater—Let us linger in the ray.
Good luck to thee. Good luck to thee.
Our dreams with you will stay.

But alas, how soon the time has come,
For to leave our grand old brown and white.
'Tis with saddened heart our work is done,
It is you that kindly leads our light.

—Roy E. Brown

CLASS POEM

BLUE AND GRAY

There is a charm that haunts us all,
 And mem'ry lingers long.
 We hear a very luring call—
 It is our old school song.
 To us this High School is so dear
 We hate to leave it on this day;
 But we can part without a fear,
 Because we take our Blue and Gray.

The Gray is for the fleeting clouds
 That darken life's highway,
 But disappointments seek their shrouds
 On seeing Blue shine thru the Gray.
 The Blue is Loyalty and Truth
 In all things that we do,
 From low things hold ourselves aloof
 And guard our colors—Gray and Blue.

In all the fleeting clouds of Gray
 We've found a little speck of Blue.
 We'll live so everyone can say
 "To Gray and Blue, they e'er were true".

--Dorothy Wallet

"There's something in that, too," said the burglar as he stuck his hand in the cuspidor.

It just occurred to Francis why they called "Lovable Eyes" and "Hot Lips" Feature Songs.

Aesop's Fable: Never go into the water after a hearty meal, for you'll never find it there.

Prof.: "Which month has twenty-eight days?"
 Stude: "All of them."

"A FULL HOUSE"

We think the title of our play was very appropriate, because we did have a "Full House" both Thursday and Friday nights. And we're sure everyone enjoyed it because it was all a "House Full of Laughs".

We were very thankful for the cyclorama which the last class combined with ours donated to B. H. S., and felt highly honored at being the first class to use it. We know that it added greatly to the effect of the play.

The committee had a terrible time choosing a play that would fit the talent of our class but you will all agree, so think the Seniors, that we chose the right one.

We just knew it was going to be a success under the direction of Mrs. Laudenslager, who has led so many other classes through this difficult problem. Our very fitting cast was:

Susie	Mary Hahn
Parks	Norris Titley
Ottily	Helen Elmer
Miss Winnecker	Janet Ferrell
Daphne Charters	Dorothy Edwards
Nicholas King	Roy Brown
Ned Pembroke	Lavern Fletcher
George Howell	Glenn Peters
Doughterty	John Hill
Jim Mooney	Gordon Rennie
Kearney	Jack Plaine
Mrs. Fleming	Leora Frazee
Vern Vernon	Helen Wagner
Mrs. Pembroke	Ruth Tawney

SENIOR B CLASS

In nineteen hundred and twenty-two, in the month of January, Freshmen entered the doors of that stately looking yellow building known as the Barberton High School. These Freshmen came from all parts of the Magic City; many were strangers to each other, but they came prepared to make new friends and they have.

Coming in three and four at a time these Freshmen were told to go to the auditorium. Now every one of them had been in the auditorium some time before, and so they entered feeling that all was well with the world. Every once in a while some one would pop their head in one of the doors and say "Hello, there!"

We held several parties during our Freshman year and in January, '23, we were Sophomores. Now when one is a Sophomore he begins to feel a wee bit of dignity creeping into his bones, and to be a Senior is the aim and desire of everyone. And so these Sophomores worked hard and thought of the time when they should have their rings and sweaters. Two or three parties were held during this year. And the time passed very quickly and in January, '24, we became Juniors. And then all of our thoughts centered around one thing—Rings. We held several peppy class meetings (our meetings always have been peppy) before we decided on our rings. However after many discussions they were settled upon and sent for. And every time someone said something about a ring our hearts leaped, for ours were on the way. After many anxious weeks of waiting they arrived; and you can bet we were proud of them and we still are. The last day of our Junior B semester, our class hiked to Long Lake and everyone had a good time. During our Junior A semester we held a weiner roast and we "sure did have fun". And now we are Senior B's; we only have twenty-eight in our class, but we are proud of them. At the beginning of the semester we got our sweaters and everyone seemed satisfied. We are now planning for our Carnival, the proceeds of which are to banquet the worthy Senior A's.

The officers of our class have been as follows: Freshman year: President, Betty Kline; secretary and treasurer, Paul Heiman. Sophomore year: President, Helen Debold; secretary and treasurer, Dorothy Wallet. Junior year: President, Hiram Bell; secretary and treasurer, Lillian McCloury.

JUNIOR A CLASS

Three years ago a group of very frightened children entered a large building which they knew as Barberton High School. We trembled like leaves in the wind, as we did not know what would happen first.

The first thing that happened we were divided and sent to different rooms. Then came the job of making out schedules and finding classes that were called. We finally got settled and everything went well for several days for the girls, but the poor boys were never left alone.

The next important happening was our first class meeting. At this meeting we did not know just exactly what to do, but with some help we finally elected James Glancy president and Edward Razor secretary and treasurer.

It only seemed like we had been going to school about a month when the first year was over, and we were able to laugh at other Freshies, and we were Freshies no more but Sophomores. We began to feel a little more confident until we went into Study Hall and somebody made a mistake and called us Freshies. We regained our confidence again at our first class meeting of our Sophomore year, because we knew just what to do. We elected Ruth Jacobs president and Helen Lawrence secretary and treasurer.

Then came the greatest event of all, we passed from Sophomores to Juniors, and what a feeling of joy to be called upper classmen. We soon had a meeting to decide about class rings and such a time as we had, as everybody tried to talk at once. Finally with the help of Mr. Everett and Mr. Simon, we decided on green gold with black around the numbers. We had a terrible time getting them and when we did some of them were too small and had to be sent back, but soon everybody was satisfied with either rings or pins or both. At the middle of the year part of our class was sent to Study Hall and part to Room 31. The last year Agnes Alspach was elected president and Lola Samples secretary and treasurer. By this time some of our members have quit school and some have been left behind, until there are now about seventy-one in our class and we all think our is the best class that ever was or ever will be.

JUNIOR-A CLASS

HISTORY OF JUNIOR B CLASS

On January 19, 1923, about one hundred and five lonely freshies congregated in the auditorium of B. H. S. These freshies came from the four corners of Barberton—Hazelwood, Hyland, Washington and Lincoln Schools. We lived thru that Friday afternoon with many jeers and sneers received from the mighty Juniors and Seniors.

We were escorted to Rooms 11, 12, 13 and 14, which were said to be our home rooms. On the following Tuesday we were told to go to chapel. As we neared the auditorium we heard the other classmen clapping for all they were worth, but as we entered the auditorium the clapping stopped. We had been mistaken for the Freshman A's. The first semester ended without any class meetings.

But the following September we again gathered in the halls of B. H. S., no longer Freshies but Freshmen. We occupied Rooms 16 and 17, for our number was greatly decreased after the final exams the preceding June. During this semester we held our first class meeting under the direction of Mr. Everett, when Evans Carrier was elected president; Frederick Kreider, vice president, and Evelyn Dapp, secretary and treasurer of our distinguished class. We were not so 'dead' during the A semester as in the B, for we held our first party in the form of a masquerade in the Gymnasium of B. H. S. This party was a grand success.

Exams again faced us and when we became Sophomores our number was somewhat smaller. We occupied Rooms 18 and 19. We were led thru this term by our same efficient officers and our honorary members, Miss Ruff and Mr. and Mrs. Baker. During this semester we witnessed another party, held at the bank rooms.

The following September found us Sophomore A's, dwelling in the Commercial Room and Room 25. It was again time for election of officers, which was held in the study hall. Paul Brotsman was elected president, Ilma Krupp vice president and Leola Schild, secretary and treasurer, Miss Cline and Br. Bryant honorary members. During this semester we enjoyed our third party, a masquerade party held in the gym. This party was attended by all.

We were now Junior B's and upper-classmen, but to tell the truth it didn't feel a bit different. We still occupied the same rooms. During the first months we experienced the turmoil which accompanies the selecting of class rings. At last they were selected—white gold ones. Then came the long wait; each day our president made threats because we asked so many questions. But now to crown the glory of being Junior B's we have received those long waited for rings.

"Leaving us so soon, Bridget?"

"Yes, Mum: I never stay long in one place."

JUNIOR-B CLASS

SOPHOMORE HISTORY

On a mild September morning in the year 1923, the Sophomore Class entered High School, two hundred and fifteen strong. We were immediately marched into the auditorium where Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors were assembled. As we entered, aforesaid Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors let loose a mighty yell, accompanied by hand-clapping, whistles and all sorts of strange and weird noises. We cannot explain this outburst except, perhaps, that the upper classmen upon seeing our intelligent faces, decided in their stupid way to give us a little encouragement.

In the happy days that followed, everybody seemed to realize our importance and never failed to salute us with a cheery "Hello Freshie" whenever we met.

On September 27th we elected our officers, who were: President, Edna Gardner; vice president, Ruth Bell and secretary and treasurer, Mary Milford. Vincent Kinney represented us in student council.

In celebration of our entry to High School, the first number of the Magician was dedicated to us and, by the way, was printed on beautiful green paper.

We rambled through our freshie year learning new things and making new friends, and finally when we were elevated to the Sophomore Class, our joy knew no bounds.

In September of '24, we again came to the old school, which was newly adorned with a beautiful and spacious annex. This time we were no longer timid Freshmen, but Sophomores, and we always remembered our position and the dignity that went with it.

Our officers for this our Sophomore year are: President, Stanley Snyder; vice president, Eleanor Sonnhalter; secretary and treasurer, Harold Eckroate.

During the past year we have lost quite a few members, and now our enrollment is one hundred and twenty.

We are just half finished with our high school life and we hope to accomplish even more in the next two years than we have done in the first two.

The present Sophomore B's organized their class in the fall term of 1924. The officers were as follows: President, August Hoffman; vice president, Jack Rotes; secretary and treasurer, Virgil Weatherford; faculty advisors, Blythe Pearce and Ruth Kline.

On account of unforetold disasters, this honorable class has not been able to summon up courage enough to hold a second session.

SOPHOMORE-B CLASS

9 A CLASS HISTORY

When we, a band of green-looking freshies, slowly troop our way to the auditorium amid the jeers of those upper-classmen, little did we think we'd become so important as we are now.

We came from different parts of the city to our Alma Mater. As we were assigned rooms, we felt rather sick at the mentioning of incipient duckings. But we managed to live thru them. After getting acquainted with our daily routine, we felt more at home. We still remember that first "Pep" meeting. My, how insignificant we felt, standing there amid the glares of the more sophisticated members of the High School.

Yet we were the brightest group of Freshies to come here, even if we do say it "as shouldn't". After getting to know by sight such important persons as Wade Brotsman, Roy Brown and others, we had high hopes of becoming as great as they.

Recreation Club and other Clubs of the High School soon came into our view. We grasped every chance to become popular as soon as we could. With so many brilliant super-intellectuals in our midst, how could we fail? With our reputation good and our character better, we were the best.

Then in the brightest times, when we were enjoying the pleasures of this new realm, came the catastrophe—Grade Cards!!! Some still have those awful shocks at the mention of the dreadful creatures. But so far, so good. The time for promotion came and went, and we now look back to the time we were "green ones."

Soon we shall reach that high standpoint of the Sophomore grade. My, won't we be grand?

Now, we are just a little wave in an ocean of people, but watch our tide rise. When we are Seniors we shall be the pride and joy of Barberton—yes of all Ohio—and when we meet in later years, we shall talk of old times. But can we ever forget those glorious, wonderful, the most happy times, the days of our High School term!

The Biology Club has had a successful semester in furthering the biological interests of our club. We have had very good equipment and also a very good advisor, Mr. Niehaus. We had a number of fine talks and experiments. We had the pleasure of trying to mount a dead dog but did not quite succeed, but will try again. We also experimented with a cat. We found some biological facts and have its skull just about ready to mount. We have a field trip planned and more talks to wind up a successful semester.

This club has had a very prosperous year. Many interesting events have occurred since the club organized at the beginning of the semester. One event was that it has corresponded with many big newspapers-all over this country and Europe. Another is that we have studied the construction from A to Z, and we feel that we have really gained something that will be very beneficial to us.

Have you ever had the desire to attend a real spicy program? Then, see that you are present at one of the meetings of this club. This semester the club took up the study of editorial and news articles, and other material on the subject of Journalism. Several outside speakers have been kind enough to come and speak to us.

The different newspapers of the country and one from France have given us some very interesting and helpful information. And one newspaper of this country has been kind enough to furnish us with a book about the history of their newspaper.

So all in all you will agree with us that we have had a very successful as well as educational year in this club.

The Club spends a very enjoyable hour each time it meets, and we hope to have many new members in the future.

We are learning many interesting facts concerning advertising and those who have an interest in advertising should not miss coming into our club, for we learn things that we will always find of use.

There are no girl members in our club, so the boys who are bashful, don't be afraid to come. We sure have many good times. JOIN.

Although our club is small and not very well known, we have had quite an active year. We have taken up the study of the various historically prominent people and also a study of the early history of Ohio. Our successful year has been due to a large extent to the efforts of our officers, who have carried out their work very faithfully.

 Secretary - - - - - Pauline Werner

The Barberton High Debate Club has just closed its second year of existence with an increased membership, and with rosy hopes for its future.

During the year several interesting debates, speeches and reports were given. Members of the club are interested in everything pertaining to Debate Club and debating in general.

Some of us are leaving now, but we have no fears for the future of the club. We are leaving it to capable hands and enthusiastic minds to carry on.

The Debate Club has a rosy future. Time will tell.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE

The second annual Interscholastic Debate was held Friday, March 13, with Barberton, Medina and Wadsworth competing. The subject for debate was "Resolved: That the parliamentary cabinet form of government of Great Britain would more perfectly advance the highest interests of the United States than does its present form."

Members of the affirmative team were: Roy Brown, first speaker; John Hill, second speaker; Clifford Welch, third speaker; Juanita Mathie, alternate.

Members of the negative team were: Anna Levin, first speaker; Hazel Buskey, second speaker; Estabculah Heskett, third speaker; George Onderak, alternate.

After working hard for many weeks, we were ready for the test. The affirmative team, debating at Medina, lost. The negative team, meeting Wadsworth at home, won. Both teams fought hard and fought fairly. We extended every courtesy possible to the opposing teams. Victory or loss, we're proud of Barberton's interscholastic debate.

The negative team, especially, wishes to thank both the student body and faculty for their co-operation and enthusiasm on the day of the debate. It helped immensely.

Barberton's enthusiastic participation in future Interscholastic Debates is now practically assured. It should receive every student's co-operation just as athletics. One is the oratorical warrior. Both play the game hard and squarely, not for themselves but for Barberton Central High School of Barberton, Ohio.

The Brush and Pallette Club was first organized last semester. We had no definite purpose in view and consequently did not accomplish very much.

This semester, however, we decided that we would work toward a definite goal, that goal being the production of at least three good pictures per person for the exhibit at the end of the year. We decided on having a program on the first Friday of every month. Our programs have all been good, one being exceptionally good, that being of cathedrals.

The Dramatic Club is one of the largest and most active clubs in the school. Its members number almost one hundred. Most of the programs have been "howling successes" and Mrs. Laudenslager has brought to light many talented people. Some who especially distinguished themselves were: Margaret Glancy, Dorothy Worley, Dorothy Edwards and Estabeulah Heskett, while many, many others responded readily when asked to do anything.

One of the greatest successes was "Open Night". Anyone that saw the program would agree that unusual talent was displayed and the program was received very well by a large, interested audience.

The Commercial Club has been successful this semester. With the co-operation and good work of the president, advisor and members, we are able to say that we lived up to the purpose of the club, which is to obtain better education in the commercial world.

Good outside speakers and the members themselves made up programs that were interesting and worth while.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. girls have been very successful in their work this year. At the opening of the year we set out on a voyage and now that we are just about back home we are convinced that we have had a "bon voyage".

Our meetings were all planned by the cabinet and carried out by them with the help of the girls. The meetings were all very worth while and covered a wide range of subjects, so there was no danger of not having something that was of interest to everyone.

The Hi-Y and Y. W. had charge of the Union Lecture Course this year. This undertaking was not so very successful but we did not lose anything by it.

"Green Stockings" was a play which was very successful, given by a cast selected from the girls of our club and the boys of the High School.

Now that this year has come to an end the old cabinet consisting of Helen Elmer, President; Eleanor Long, Secretary; Mary McGillivray, Treasurer; Evelyn Smith, Service Chairman; Dorothy Worley, Social Chairman; Ruth Jacob, Program Chairman; Ruth Smith, Student Council Member; has turned over the work of the Club to the new officers, who are: Ruth Jacob, President; Evelyn Smith, Vice President; Lucille Marshall, Secretary; Evelyn Kneifel, Treasurer; Evelyn Dapp, Service Chairman; Margaret Yoder, Social Chairman; Anna Haidin, Program Chairman; Martha Rutledge, Student Council. This cabinet is looking forward to another successful year with the club.

People often say, "What is the Excelsior Club?" The Excelsior Club is a flourishing English Club. There are about thirty members, and the name of the club means "Ever Higher".

Mrs. Baker is the advisor, and through her suggestions the club is growing much better.

There are two divisions in the club, each giving a program, alternately. These programs consist of stories, plays, debates, readings and current articles. After the program, there is a critics report which is made as severe as possible, so we may improve ourselves.

HI-Y

It is always customary in giving a report of this kind to name the officers under whom the organization went forward. In this case they were in 1924-25: James Townsend, president; Roy E. Brown, vice president; Wade Brotsman, secretary, and Charles Hunter, treasurer. These officers worked in close co-ordination and thus helped greatly in promoting the welfare of the Hi-Y.

The recreative part of the program was easily arranged by basketball, a team being formed and everyone having a chance to engage in a game every week.

The year 1924 had now drawn to a close and soon came the election of new officers. This came in March and the new men elected were: Gordon Houck, president; Dick McHenry, vice president, and Charles Fisher, secretary and treasurer.

Now came the "Older Boys' Conference" at Cuyahoga Falls and several attended this, representing Barberton very well at the church where the conference was held. This affair lasted for one day and all who attended felt amply repaid for the time they spent in the Falls. Several new ideas were expressed by other clubs and thus aided many of the weaker clubs from surrounding towns.

Business and devotional meetings were held every Thursday night and a great deal of business was carried on by the club members. There is much more in the future but everyone is confident that there will be no trouble in straightening out any new affairs that may arise in the future. It is hoped that the club will progress as well in the future as it has in the past.

There are now seventeen members in the club, and next year a larger club is expected and we will try to have the school radio repaired in order to interest the newer fans.

In summing up, we may say that the Radio Club has had a very successful as well as prosperous year.

With the ease and grace that is the natural characteristic of all small bodies this little group of Latin scholars known to Barberton High pupils as the "Latin Club" takes its place in line with the greatest, for it has shown that though small, it can be very interesting. Our meetings each week have been most educational and entertaining and have brought to light more than one Caesar, Cicero or Virgil in the meeting.

This semester has been a particularly successful one for the Latin Club, due to the active interest and generous participation of the members, whose faithfulness at meetings and whose willing preparation of papers have made the weekly meetings extremely enjoyable.

Our entertainment committee, which consists of Eleanor Sonnhalter, Chairman; Ilma Krupp, Jack Rotes and Frank Hammett, has done nobly, furnishing us with excellent programs for each meeting.

A fine appreciation of ancient Latin classics together with an increased facility and pleasure in studying them is the end towards which the efforts of the society are directed. Perhaps it is not the least of its achievements to have reached a more perfect understanding of the important influence exerted by the culture of classic antiquity upon the everyday life of our modern society. Not all people can understand the motives which prompt an intensive study of Latin, but for those who have ventured within the forbidden portals and who have been awakened to a sense of understanding and of intellectual achievement, a wider field of artistic appreciation lies open; for them our Romani Hodierni society is intended.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

BARBERTON'S BASKETBALL TEAM

Barberton High is proud of her 1924-25 basketball team and we have a right to feel proud, for when a team wins eleven games out of a total of fifteen on their schedule and is able to stay till the semi-finals in the North-Eastern Ohio tournament, it shows that Barberton can take its place among the leaders of athletics in this part of the state. Following is the list of games and scores:

Our first game on December 19, we were able to win by the small margin of three points. The game was fast and furious throughout, but we were able to win by the score of 22 to 19.

Our next game was a surprise affair, as we beat Akron Central 22 to 18, and we received due credit in an Akron paper for a change.

Richfield only gave our boys some good practice. We defeated them badly, the score being 46 to 28.

We started out the year 1925 rightly by downing the Wadsworth High team, but we must admit that they kept the team moving all through the game. The score was 22-20.

We were feeling pretty good until we met the strong Canton McKinley team and suffered our first defeat at their hands. We are forced to admit that they played a fine game. This score was somewhat different, 37-27.

On January 17 we again met Richfield and again came out the victor. This game was not so rosy as the first game for us, but we won 39-26.

On January 23 we defeated Akron North by five points and gave Akron another setback. The final score was 20-15.

Our next game with Kent was an easy affair for us and we came back with the bacon, the score being 28-16.

On January 30 we easily defeated Millersburg at Millersburg, 38-22.

We were not long to remain happy over our past victories, as Sharon, Pa., gave us our second setback of the season. The score of the game was 22-20.

The next game was with Wadsworth and we had a chance to give our second team a workout. The score was 44-28.

Medina gave us a pretty good game for two bits, the score being 20-8.

On February 14 we easily defeated Massillon in our last home game of the season. The score of this game was 48-35.

We journeyed to Akron on February 21, and were defeated by West High, but we didn't do so bad against a six-man team. The score was 32-21.

To make us feel bad we were defeated in our last game by Lorain. This was a surprise to our boys and we felt as if our last friend had left us. The score was close

--in fact too close, being 18-17.

Barberton entered the tournament full of pep and all ready to take them over. Our first game was with St. Vincents and we defeated them 21-17. Another setback for Akron.

In the second tournament game we defeated Akron East 20-18.

On the following Saturday we went to the finals and were defeated by Lakewood 24-12.

The game started fast but Lakewood soon broke through our defense and made 16 points in the first half, while we only succeeded in making one foul. The second half found almost a new Barberton team on the floor, not in persons but in mind. Our boys went to work with a will and we ran up 11 points, but still could not break Lakewood's lead. We believe that if our boys had not been scared out at the sight of Lakewood we would have come out in the lead.

We are proud to say that the team consisted of four June '25 boys and we are surely proud of the school spirit shown by them.

B. H. S. FOOTBALL TEAM

FOOTBALL REVIEW OF 1924

The Seniors of June '25 are proud to say that they had nine letter men in the 1924 season of football.

The season seemed to be filled with hard luck for our team. In the first place "Dick" Krupp was injured and it meant that a new manager had to be chosen. Rezin Sohner responded and took the job, with Lytle Johnson as assistant.

Our first game was with Cuyahoga Falls at the Falls and Barberton fans seemed to outnumber those of the Falls, but the best we could do was tie the score and keep the Falls from scoring till the end of the game. The game ended 7 to 7.

Our next game was with Akron North and it was Barberton's first game on the new field. Akron North was lucky enough to interfere with one of our passes and made the only touchdown of the game, the game ending with a 7 to 0 score against our team.

We next traveled to Warren and were handed another defeat from the strong aggregation there. The score was 40 to 0 and not in our favor.

The next week we made up for past defeats by defeating Mansfield easily at Mansfield by the score of 25 to 0.

Kent Roosevelt then journeyed down here and we avenged our defeat of last year by the overwhelming score of 39 to 7.

We then again took our revenge against Wooster and although the weather was stormy, we all felt that we were repaid for all of our discomforts. We were able to get two touchdowns and held Wooster to none, the game ending 12 to 0.

We were not destined to remain happy long because of Youngstown Rayen's invasion of our fair city. Youngstown arrived in good spirits with their one-man team and went away with the bacon under their arm. Manushak seemed to have wings on his feet and raced up and down the field almost at will, the game ending sorrowfully for us, being 38 to 7. But then we defeated our old rivals, Wadsworth, in a thrilling game and made up for all past defeats, the score being 40 to 0. That was one game we wanted to win and we did, and in order to leave no doubt "skunked" them.

We are now wishing the best of luck to anyone who may coach our teams and to all future teams, and we want to here thank Mr. Turney for his work and loyalty to Barberton Hi.

The last game was our worst game as we lost it after a rather poor showing of football. The game was lost to the Falls by a 3 to 0 score.

MUSIC

The Orchestra, the Band, the Glee Clubs, Friday morning singing and all other forms of music features have been very successful throughout the entire year.

When Mr. Snyder was here the Music Department of B. H. S. thrived well. After he left us, we came into the capable hands of Miss Maye Custer. We Seniors who are leaving wish Miss Custer many more successful years here at our school, as the last one has been. We shall miss the Music Department when we go out into the world.

The Orchestra has been fully appreciated this year by the student body. The Orchestra organizations. The Orchestra shall miss the Senior A Class, not only because of orchestra is composed of many fine players. It has played many times in chapel for us. Also at plays, concerts, programs given by the High School people and by other clubs Ruth Tawney but of the Senior Class in general, since we always welcomed the Orchestra.

The Boys' Glee Club have put on many successful events, however the best considered was the minstrel show. This was successfully given. The Boys' Glee Club have sang at many places and at different times. Whenever they sang in chapel they were well received. The Boys' Glee Club will miss two faithful members, these boys having been members for four years—Russell Christenson and Norris Titley. We hope next year the Freshmen will step into these empty places and be as faithful as they.

The Band had a fine season. They were "Johnnies-on-the-spot," at football games, which helped the games along. They roused "pep" from all who attended the games, both student body and outsiders. They helped the boys to win. We have no members in the Band but we did have a lot of boys in the games and on the first team, who thank the Band and are sorry to leave them but wish them success—Always.

The Girls' Glee Club, having had an excellent year of song and glee, bid farewell to the departing Seniors. The Glee Club successfully presented "Miss Carthurs Return", which was given very well. The Girls' Glee Club has sang many places. This year the Girls' Glee Club loses seven members. They are: Leora Frazee, Dorothy Edwards, Frances Tonya, Helen Wagner, Marian Endinger, Ethel Riley and Ruth Tawney. Five of these have belonged to the club for four years.

The Seniors thank the Music Department for all the aid we have received from them. We shall think of you always and shall always be thinking of you, even tho' we shall roam far-far-away—farewell!
